Protect the People (PTP) Expertise and Capabilities

PTP Consulting LLC

PTP is a network of 50 subject matter experts (SME) that speak 18 languages and have worked in 80 countries. Our mission is to protect people affected by conflict and disaster. We conduct operational training and exercises, develop private sector partnerships, and support humanitarian innovation. We also conduct policy research and government relations, facilitating consultations with senior officials.

TRAINING EXERCISES

PTP conducts training and exercises to strengthen the capacity of military and police to engage with civilian government institutions, security forces, and local populations in complex environments. We provide program of instruction (POI) development, train the trainer modules, classroom briefings, online learning, serious games, simulations, tabletop exercises, and lessons learned workshops at headquarters, regional centers, and mission level.

PTP supported the development of NATO's Protection of Civilians and Stability Policing concepts, advising allied forces in Bulgaria, Romania, and Italy. PTP experts provided expert advice to the NATO Allied Command Transformation (ACT) Serious Game on Civil-Military Interaction, creating virtual environments including a displacement camp and local town affected by violence. PTP supported the Center for Civilians in Conflict (CIVIC) and the Ukraine armed Forces in developing a national Protection of Civilians policy for the Russian occupied territories. PTP also conducted a field training exercise with the U.S. 10th Transportation Battalion on humanitarian logistics. PTP supported the U.S. Army South tabletop exercise on Peacekeeping in the Americas by developing interactive scenarios on the Protection of Civilians, Human Trafficking, Gender Based Violence (GBV), and Internally Displaced Persons (IDPs). PTP experts have developed CIMIC training for UN Peacekeeping, and supported the revision of the U.S. Inter-Service Peace Operations Manual.

PRIVATE SECTOR PARTNERSHIPS

PTP supports private companies in establishing partnerships with humanitarian agencies. PTP has worked with Kappler Inc. on Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) for the Ebola response, in partnership with the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID). PTP also forged partnerships between Jameson shelter lighting and mobile medical clinic providers in low energy environments, and helped CamelBak developing a charitable initiative for water purification in emergencies.

HUMANITARIAN INNOVATION

PTP is committed to developing innovative solutions for the protection of civilians in conflict, including the protection of women and girls from Gender Based Violence (GBV). PTP worked with Relief International to integrate GBV prevention in their South Sudan and Haiti water and sanitation (WASH) programs. We also provided American Refugee Committee (ARC) with solar powered radios and handheld flashlights to support women displaced by conflict in Somalia. PTP also partners with social enterprise incubators at leading universities, piloting new ideas for humanitarian response.
